

VERIDIAN CONNECTIONS INTERROGATORY #1

INTERROGATORY

Please provide a detailed description of the corporate policies, structure and characteristics of Wirebury Connections Inc. In addition, please describe the types of products and/or services it proposes to offer customers.

RESPONSE

Wirebury is owned jointly by OZZ Corporation, a leading provider of electrical and telecom infrastructure and energy-related products and services, and Enbridge Energy Distribution Inc., part of Enbridge Inc., which has over 150 years of experience in the distribution utility sector, providing safe, and reliable energy to 1.6 million customers.

Wirebury will offer a competitive local electricity distribution option for developers and property managers through innovative and efficient technologies and business processes leveraging the resources of its 'best in class' business partners. The services provided will include interval metering technology and associated meter data management. Along with this technology Wirebury will make the associated meter data available to its customers. This will help facilitate better energy use by customers by allowing them to monitor their loads and thus manage their energy consumption. This capability is not available or practical with traditional metering technology.

