

VERIDIAN CONNECTIONS INTERROGATORY #13

INTERROGATORY

The services described in paragraph 55 that Wirebury proposes to offer to customers appear to relate to competitive retail services and not regulated electricity distribution services. Please explain.

RESPONSE

Wirebury's business model is based on the company operating as a licensed distributor and as such it will own distribution plant and operate like any other regulated distributor in the province, meeting all of the licensing, code, and legislative requirements. Like most licensed distributors, Wirebury will be involved at the start of the distribution value chain facilitating the initial customer connections and at the end of the process serving its end-use customers on an ongoing basis. For further discussion of this issue, please refer to Wirebury's responses to Veridian interrogatories at Ex. J12, T2, S2 and at Ex. J12, T2, S12.

